

PLAN AND PACK FOR A SAFE JOURNEY

Before you travel, please ensure that you have read our 'Stay Safe, Be Prepared' leaflet for more tips on preparing for your trip and on keeping you safe on your holiday.

- If you have accessibility requirements discuss them with your travel provider as it may be necessary to modify certain services to comply with COVID-19 measures.
- Check with your airline or transport provider for any specific requirements for travel, for example luggage policy and changes to check-in procedures and find out whether meal services are available onboard, as you may need to make alternative arrangements.
- Plan your journey in advance, check the airport website for details of any measures they have introduced to aid a safe check-in and movement through the terminal. Airport facilities such as shops and restaurants may be closed or have a reduced capacity.
- If using terminal lounges, check they are open and operational, and what requirements may be in place. It may be necessary to book in advance.
- Pack sufficient face coverings for your trip, remember that you will need to replace face coverings regularly or wash reusable masks after each use.
- Follow the luggage policy of your transport provider, including any weight or carriage restrictions, keep hand luggage to a minimum. Check your airline policy for what you can and cannot take on board.
 - Pack a supply of face coverings and hand sanitiser in your hand luggage.
- In advance of travel CGT Battlefields will endeavour to secure copies of relevant suppliers 'COVID-19 Policies and Procedures' and will forward them to you.
- On arrival, cash might not be accepted. Some outlets will ask for card payments only, so speak to your card provider before you go to make sure your cards are set up to be used abroad and, wherever possible, are contactless.

Customer tips and information for going on holiday or travelling abroad

INTRODUCTION

As travel restarts and destinations recovering from the pandemic are looking forward to welcoming people again, it is quite possible that your visit might look or be different to previous experiences. For example, there might be changes to food service such as buffet options; the hotels might operate self check-in or there may be additional health screening at terminal check-in or security; there might be fewer restaurants open; as well as changes to entertainment available in resort.

To help you get ready for travel, here are some useful tips as you prepare for your trip and to assist when travelling abroad. Please be sure to read the information carefully and share it with other members in your party.

BEFORE YOU TRAVEL – DO YOUR RESEARCH

FOREIGN, COMMONWEALTH & DEVELOPMENT OFFICE (FCDO)

- In the country advice you will find details of any mandatory requirements in relation to COVID-19 including whether you are required to provide proof of a negative COVID-19 test result, any health checks that will be conducted on arrival, self-isolation measures or other quarantine requirements upon entering your chosen destination.
- The FCDO has published travel information for anyone travelling overseas during the pandemic: www.gov.uk/guidance/travel-advice-novel-coronavirus. Read the advice carefully.

HEALTH ADVICE AND VACCINATIONS

- Read the health advice and check the health and vaccination requirements on www.travelhealthpro.org.uk/countries before you go. If vaccinations are required speak to your GP or travel health clinic.
- Keep up to date with the local laws and public health requirements relating to your destination and consider what you will need to take with you to comply with local country requirements when you're away, such as face coverings.
- Pack a sufficient supply of face coverings and hand sanitiser for your trip. You will need to wear a face covering at the airport, on your flight, on the transfer to your hotel and in some destinations in public areas, shops and inside the hotel itself.
- Ensure you take an adequate supply of medication, should you have to stay longer than your normal holiday duration.

DESTINATION REQUIREMENTS

- Make sure you are aware of any local COVID-19 measures that should be followed.

- Observe terminal rules including social distancing measures such as floor markings and directions of flow when moving around the building.
- Follow security instructions and social distancing requirements in queues.
- Observe strict hygiene measures such as handwashing and the use of hand sanitiser.
